Hello all,

We had a great time at the NJLA Conference this year where H&P presented four great programs:

- Exhilarating Zines (preconference)
- New Jersey Authors Speak
- Now More Than Ever: Expanded Local History Resources and information on Professional Historical Organizations
- Who’s Out There? Information on Various Professional Historical Associations

All four sessions went very well, several had packed rooms, and all were praised by attendees! Thanks to Laura Saurs, John Beekman, Mary Boykoff, and Jessica Myers for organizing these great sessions! Thanks also to everyone who helped man the table. We made several great connections with NJ library staff through our tabling.

We also had an H&P meeting at the conference. Minutes are available online. We had several attendees who hadn’t attended before so that was exciting and we hope to continue to increase participation.

In April, we cosponsored a talk on CAPES with Princeton Preservation Group. In May, we sponsored a talk from the Ukrainian Educational and Cultural Center. Both also went very well! Participants at both programs said they learned a lot and we were able to share information about the Section.
As of July 1, we started a new year for the Section! We’re happy to welcome new officers including John Beekman as Vice President and Jackie Oshman as Secretary. We also have a new Exec Board Member Juber Ayala. Thanks to Ken Kaufman, Jessica Myers, Tom Ankner, and Gary Sareztky for remaining in their current positions as Past President (Ken) and on the Exec Board.

One big accomplishment this year was our members’ work in establishing an Archives and History Committee. This Committee will work to preserve NJLA’s archives, both its older archives and those going into the future. Congratulations to Fred Pachman who is chairing that committee. We have several other H&P members involved, including myself and Elsaly Palmisano, who’s done a ton of work on trying to get the archives in shape. I’m excited to see what this Committee will accomplish in the coming year.

The H&P Executive Board is meeting in August to plan out the year and then we’ll have a General Meeting in early fall.

Hope to see you all there as we plan an exciting new year! Please always reach out to me at bzakcohen@npl.org if you have any questions, concerns, programming ideas, etc! We’d love to get more library staff around the state involved in the section this coming year!

Looking forward to a great year!
Beth Zak-Cohen
NJLA H&P Executive Board Bios

President: Beth Zak-Cohen, Newark Public Library: Beth Zak-Cohen has been a librarian at the Charles F. Cummings Information Center at Newark Public Library since 2015. She serves as a reference librarian, processes archives, and manages the Center’s digital archives. A Newark native and a graduate of Princeton and Rutgers SCI, Beth has assisted on many historical publications and exhibits, written for Garden State Legacy, and co-curated the Library's current exhibition "Newark's History Keepers" on the 70th anniversary of the Charles F. Cummings Information Center. Beth was an NJLA Emerging Leader in the 2018 - 2019 year. This is her second year serving as H&P President. She previously served as Vice President.

Vice President: John Beekman, Jersey City Public Library: John received his MLIS from Rutgers in 2006 and has since that time worked in the New Jersey Room at the Jersey City Free Public Library. In 2020, he became manager of the department. In the late 20th Century, he worked for many years caring for rental sheet music and scripts at the Tam-Witmark Music Library. He has been an active member of the History & Preservation Section of NJLA and MARAC, and serves as co-editor of the H-New Jersey discussion forum on H-Net. He previously served as section President in 2009-10, and has moderated or appeared on several H&P panels at NJLA conferences, including the most recent one in June 2022. John started his second term as vice president/president-elect of H&P in July this year.

Secretary: Jacquelyn Oshman, New Brunswick Public Library: Jacquelyn Oshman has been the Local History and Genealogy Librarian at New Brunswick Public Library since 2006 and the Head of Circulation since 2020. In addition to Reference and Interlibrary Loan services, Ms. Oshman has also spearheaded local history projects such as transcribing a vital statistics collection into an online database, inventorying and being point person on Willow Grove Cemetery information, and giving Genealogy presentations at libraries and historical societies. She is the Web Archivist for NBFPL and digitizes Archival collections. She is a member of the Genealogical Society of New Jersey and the New Jersey Library Association.

Past President: Kenneth Kaufman, Somerset County Library System: Ken Kaufman is an adult services librarian at Somerset County Library System, specializing in local history and genealogy research assistance. For eleven years, he has been active in the History & Preservation Section, serving as President, Vice President and Secretary. Earning an MLS from Rutgers University, he has been a librarian for 23 years, working in various reference and collection development capacities at the Bridgewater branch of SCLSNJ and Old Bridge Public Library. Prior to his library career, Ken worked in the banking industry.
Members-At-Large

Tom Ankner, Newark Public Library: Tom Ankner has been an information professional for more than 25 years. After working in the Circulation Department at the Morristown & Morris Township Library, he received an MLS degree from Rutgers in 1992. Tom then worked at the Brooklyn Public Library, where he assisted patrons in the Telephone Reference division. In 1996, Tom took a detour into the private sector. He spent more than a decade as a researcher for national news media outlets: first for ABC News in New York City, then for USA TODAY in Washington, DC. Tom returned to the world of public libraries when he was hired by the Newark Public Library in 2010. In 2019, he was promoted to be the supervising librarian in charge of the Charles F. Cummings New Jersey Information Center. He has also operated a genealogy research business since 2011. Tom is a former president of the History & Preservation section.

Jessica Myers, Bloomfield Historical Society: Jessica Myers (SCILS Rutgers University MLS 2000) was the Head of the Plainfield Local History Department at the Plainfield Public Library from 2001 to 2012. After retirement, she leads The Plainfield Senior Citizen Center Memoir Writing Group and has volunteered for the Historical Society of Bloomfield.

Gary D. Saretzky: Gary D. Saretzky worked as an archivist at the State Historical Society of Wisconsin (1968-1969), Educational Testing Service (1969-1993), and the Monmouth County Archives (1994-2019). Gary taught history of photography at Mercer County Community College (1977-2012) and coordinated the Public History Internship Program for the Rutgers University History Department (1994-2016). He has served as a consultant to more than 60 different archives in New Jersey, primarily through CAPES, the consulting service of the New Jersey Caucus of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Archives Conference (MARAC/NJ). He has given more than 250 lectures around the state on 19th century New Jersey photographers, preserving family photographs, and other topics. Gary has been President of the Princeton Preservation Group since 2005 and is a past Chair of the Business Archives Section of the Society of American Archivists (1978-1979), the MARAC/NJ Caucus (1998-2002), the Preservation Committee of the New Jersey Region V Library Cooperative (1988-1990), and the Preservation Section of the New Jersey Library Association (1986-1987).
Juber Ayala, Newark Public Library: Juber is the Archivist at the New Jersey Hispanic Research & Information Center (NJHRIC) at The Newark Public Library. Starting in the archival field as an undergraduate intern, he quickly found a career path to apply his History and Political Science studies. He learned the archival basics of processing and arranging collections, as well as creating finding aids. Before starting his graduate studies, he also worked at the Center for Puerto Rican Studies as an archival assistant. He currently holds a Master of Information with a concentration in Archives and Preservation from Rutgers University-New Brunswick.
JOHN BEEKMAN AWARDED THE SWARTZBURG AWARD
By Gary Saretzky and Tom Ankner

John Beekman Receives Award

John Beekman has worked as archivist and reference librarian in the New Jersey Room of the Jersey City Public Library since 2006. He has managed the department since 2020. In this position, he has been responsible for processing and enhancing the preservation of the library’s substantial rare book and manuscript collections and for responding to innumerable research inquiries. John has been instrumental in the digitization from microfilm of more than twenty 19th century newspapers published in Hudson County, including the Jersey Journal from 1867 to several years ago.

Currently, since 2014, he is also Co-Editor of H-Net New Jersey, the successor to the New Jersey History listserv. In addition to his editorial duties for H-Net NJ, he regularly posts news relevant to New Jersey history.

For the New Jersey Library Association History & Preservation Section, John was Secretary in 2008, Vice President in 2008-2009, President in 2009-2010, Member at Large, 2011-2014, and since 2019 has been Professional Development Coordinator. John will begin his second term as vice president/president-elect of H&P in July. He has also presented at many NJLA conferences including the most recent one in June 2022.
In addition to NJLA, John is an active member of MARAC and the Archivists Round Table of Metropolitan New York. He is also a member of the New Jersey Studies Academic Alliance, and has twice served as a reader for NJSAA’s book awards.

Not only is John an experienced librarian, archivist, and administrator, he is also a respected colleague whose input is sought by others in the New Jersey library community. He is a popular speaker at conferences, and a valuable contributor to professional associations. His work at Jersey City Free Public Library includes conscientious and friendly help to patrons, as well as thoughtful, professional, detail-oriented work on maintaining and adding to the collection.

2022 SUSAN G. SWARTZBURG PRESERVATION AWARD
ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

By John Beekman
New Jersey Room, Jersey City Free Public Library
Vice-President, History and Preservation Section

The awards ceremony at the 2022 NJLA Conference in Atlantic City was mercifully streamlined with limited numbers of acceptance speeches made by award recipients. I was humbled by Ken Kaufman’s kind words in presenting the award, and experienced a mix of relief and disappointment that I was not able to thank him and the section from the stage at Harrah’s Atlantic City. I appreciate the opportunity to instead express myself here in The Chronicle.

I want to thank my colleagues and friends in the History and Preservation section for selecting me to be the 20th anniversary recipient of the Susan Swartzburg Award. I did not have the good fortune to study under, work with, or even meet Susan Swartzburg, but when I look back at the list of past winners I see the names of so many mentors, role models and friends – several have been all three to me, starting with the very first award winner, Elsalyn Palmisano. I met Elsalyn while I was volunteering at the Long Branch Public Library prior to going to library school almost 20 years ago. Elsalyn’s advice and guidance were invaluable to me at that time, during a necessary radical reinvention of who I was. Other section members both on this list and yet to be recognized there have continued to model the practice of commitment to our profession.

The values of community, collegiality, and public service are at the core of the library profession, and I have found them to be exemplified in the History and Preservation Section of NJLA. I am grateful to be a member, and while this award is given to recognize past service, I accept it at least as much as a motivation to renew my commitment to the work, and to give back the support I have found in this organization, and this profession. It is in this spirit I begin my second go-round as section Vice-President and President-Elect. As we live through times of change that seem to ever accelerate, and new challenges both anticipated and unexpected, I hope I may contribute in some small way to sustaining the work as my predecessors have done.

“Now More Than Ever – Expanded Online Sources for Local History Research”

Submitted By Frederic C. Pachman, AHIP
Library Director, Monmouth Medical Center

Our Thursday morning program “Who’s Out There? Information on Various Professional Historical Organizations” was introduced by Jackie Oshman and Mary Boykoff. Executive Director of the New Jersey Historical Commission Sara Cureton gave a tour of the Garden State’s history community from the local societies up through state-wide groups, and adding in some national organizations with special programs and resources. She reminded attendees about the upcoming 250th anniversary of the Revolutionary War and the opportunities and benefits from NJCH sponsored programs such as the Caucus Archival Projects Evaluation Service (managed in cooperation with the New Jersey Caucus of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Archives Conference) and the Artifacts Assessment Program (managed by the New Jersey Association of Museums). Tara Maharjan’s talk started with the ‘great flood’ saga and how the services and collections at the Rutgers University Libraries were just starting to become available.

The Thursday afternoon program was jointly sponsored by the Reference Section, and former H&P Section President Ken Kaufman introduced the program “Now More Than Ever – Expanded Online Sources for Local History Research”. Catherine Medich took attendees on a tour of the online resources available at the New Jersey State Archives (www.archives.nj.gov). Whether you’re researching the nitty-gritty of birth & death records or military service, or just want to survey some of the featured New Jersey documents including the three state constitutions or photographic collections, there is plenty to enjoy. John Beekman’s talk featured online tools for doing ‘house histories’ and his county-by-county handout listing online sites for researching deeds and properties was distributed to the audience.

EXHILARATING ZINES

Submitted by Laura M. Poll, C.A.
Archivist, Trentoniana Department, Trenton Free Public Library

June 1st saw 16 cool librarians participate in the “Exhilarating Zines! Zines in New Jersey Libraries” NJLA pre-conference, co-sponsored by the History & Preservation and Young Adult Services sections. The 3-hour lecture and workshop focused on what zines are and how they can be a vital addition to libraries. Lots of examples were shown since there is not just one kind of zine - all are very different from one another and can be about anything. In the second half of the session, each participant received their own kit to begin creating their own zine. At the end, those who wanted to, shared their zine with the group.
Laura Poll, Archivist of the Trentoniana Department at the Trenton Free Public Library, was up first and gave a brief history of zines and how their “alternate knowledge” structure can add to a library’s holdings. She went on to talk about how to implement zines in both circulating and special collections, and the challenges that may be faced. She also discussed the creation of the Trenton Library’s history zine series which uses the mini-zine format to share information about Trenton’s past in a fun and easily accessible way. For more information, see www.trentonlib.org/zine-library/.

Christie Lutz, NJ Regional Studies Librarian at Rutgers University Special Collections and University Archives, then spoke about the zines in Special Collections and how she works with the students to use the zine format for academic and personal expression. She explained how zines can be incorporated into college courses alongside more traditional ways for course credit. Christie also discussed the various special collections that contain zines, the related ephemera that often come with them, and how student-made zines may become part of the collection. For more information, see https://archives.libraries.rutgers.edu/repositories/11/resources/401.

Jodi Silverman, Youth Services Department Supervisor at the North Plainfield branch of the Somerset County Library System of New Jersey, concluded the panel portion by discussing how a teen “e-zine” was born from the pandemic and how it went from a “QuaranTEEN” zine to an ongoing post-pandemic project, renamed “The Gallery”. She discussed how the teens approached the project, much like a student-run journal, and how each came up with content and then made the zine available virtually. For more information, see https://sclsnj.org/thegallery/.

After a Q & A and a short break, participants received their own supply kit to start work on making their own; the first time for many. Also available were many samples of other zines for browsing and inspiration, and to take with them in order to help start zine collections at their library. Some of the participants’ zines that were shared with the group included such topics as the casino workers strike that was just occurring in Atlantic City, a story based on found photographs, and even one about the “Spirit of Newark” (by H&P president Beth Zak-Cohen, who was also the moderator of the session).

At the end, there was some buzz about making zines an annual event at the NJLA conference, perhaps something similar to ALA’s “Zine Pavilion”; perhaps something completely new. Stay tuned, and if you are interested or have any ideas, contact Laura at zines@trentonlib.org.

MODERATING AT NJLA:
NEW JERSEY AUTHORS SPEAK

Submitted By E. Kim Adams, Archival Librarian, New Brunswick Free Public Library and
Jessica Myers, Bloomfield Historical Society

One good idea often leads to another and at NJLA 2022 that is what happened at History and Preservation’s Section old favorite “New Jersey Authors Speak”, coordinated by Jessica Myers, as Rick Geffken and Joe Pompeo launched their new books and untold stories.

We were all happy, if a bit uneasy, to be back after ‘Time in the life of Covid’. There were a few last-minute changes including that of the Keynote speaker and our moderator. Librarians and guest speakers and vendors and students showed up full of ideas, speakers to hear, programs to attend, books to share, and people to see.

And so, I was selected to be the NJ Authors moderator and accepted. I take my responsibilities seriously. I immediately ordered and read Rick Geffken’s admirable book, Stories of Slavery in New Jersey. It was a very good read on a topic of great interest to me. I was very impressed by the details he culled and knit together to create a more complete and granular understanding of slavery in New Jersey and the North.
I had suggested Joe Pompeo as a speaker. He had been using the New Brunswick Free Public Library (NBFPL) archives to do research on the Halls-Mills murder of 1922. Since Joe’s book, Blood and Ink, had not yet been published, I was sent a galley to read. I much prefer to read paper books. I am very familiar with the topic, and I expected it to be a long slog through a familiar topic. I was not expecting a barnburner. It was thrilling right from the start. Joe is a top-notch writer who brings characters and action to life with lots of energy. Additionally, he was not just writing about an unsolved murder. It was a vehicle for understanding the history of competitive, sensationalist, tabloid journalism that takes us right up to the problems of today. This may be the most important aspect of his book. The Fourth Estate is a critical component of a working Democracy. Today it is a chaotic mess with too many people sure that the press is not giving us straight-forward, unbiased news. Joe’s book shows us why.

There are some things learned about moderating from this new authors experience. Reading the books beforehand is essential. Creating an introduction that connects the audience to the authors helps to focus attention and lubricate the conversation. As with other sessions, I use the introduction to bring the speakers to life with bits of bio and thoughts about the books but still very, very short. The speakers are given their times, and I do keep them to it. They do their speaking first and questions are after in case time runs short. Last, I prepare some questions to jump start the questions if needed. It went well and both authors did excellent jobs.

I liked both books so much that both authors will be program guests at NBFPL.

I very much enjoyed moderating the session.
ATLANTIC CITY FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY UNVEILS NEW ‘SUMMER OF FREEDOM’ EXHIBIT AT BOARDWALK HALL

Submitted by Jacqueline Silver-Morillo, Reference Librarian/Archivist, Atlantic City Free Public Library

The Atlantic City Experience is presented by the Atlantic City Free Public Library.

In celebration of the NAACP National Convention coming to town this month, the Atlantic City Free Public Library unveiled its new exhibit – Summer of Freedom – on July 6 at the Atlantic City Experience (ACX), located in the Jim Whelan Boardwalk Hall lobby.

The Summer of Freedom exhibit illustrates the Civil Rights struggle to seat the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party delegates at the 1964 Democratic National Convention, which was held in Atlantic City, with protests led by...
Fannie Lou Hamer and many others. The exhibit is a mixture of photographs and artifacts from the convention. Each item displayed conveys the fight for equal rights within the United States.

Atlantic City Councilman Kaleem Shabazz said he was a sophomore in high school when Hamer came to Atlantic City, and he was involved in a demonstration in support of her and the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party.

“This is an educational, informative, exciting display, and I hope we will get people to come see it – especially young people – to get a feel for what happened,” he said.

The exhibit curators are Atlantic City historian Vicki Gold Levi and Atlantic City Library archivist Jacqueline Silver-Morillo.

Silver-Morillo and her family have Atlantic City roots, which only added to the exhibit’s significance on a personal level.

“When I first saw the completed exhibit, standing here in the empty wing, I was in awe of seeing people who look like me on a wall for all the world to see,” she said. “It made me want to cry to see where we have been and where we still need to go.”

ACX, which is presented by the library, is open to the public Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission is free. Please check the Boardwalk Hall schedule as the exhibit might be closed at times due to events taking place at the venue.

Please call Silver-Morillo at (609) 345-2269, ext. 3063, for more information about ACX, or visit acexperienceexhibit.org.

This year’s Archives and History Day will be held in person at Brookdale Community College’s Collins Arena on Saturday, October 1st, 2022. More details will be coming soon. To volunteer to staff the table please contact Beth at bzakcohen@npl.org.

Battle for Guadalcanal, August 1942

Monday, August 8, 7 pm, Manchester Branch
A major US Marine force invaded Guadalcanal, a Japanese-occupied island in the Solomon Island chain in the South Pacific on August 7, 1942. The bloody and protracted struggle for this steamy, malaria-ridden, rain-sodden island lasted for nearly 6 months, resulting in over 6,000 casualties, including 1,752 battle deaths. The battle was the first real test of land strength between Japan and the US. Paul Zigo from the WWII Era Studies Institute will be the presenter.

When There Were Witches: An Exploration of the Salem Witch Trials

Tuesday, October 4, 7 pm, Toms River Branch
Monday, October 24, 7 pm, Manchester Branch

In January of 1692, a strange illness seized control of five young girls living in Salem Village, a contentious and divided town in the Massachusetts Bay Colony.
When medical professionals could not identify the illness, the town believed the girls had come "under an evil hand." Events soon spiraled out of control with local divisions and a splintered colonial government feeding the frenzy. Archivist Mickey DiCamillo unravels the events with archival documents from the period, and program participants will interact with transcripts from the 1692 interrogations of suspected witches. A Q&A session follows the 60-minute presentation.

Saturday September 10 from 5-10pm, 19th Annual Genealogy Lock-In: Co-sponsored by the Ridgewood Public Library and the Genealogical Society of Bergen County, the Lock-In offers genealogists of all levels the chance to:

- Spend the evening researching, learning and sharing
- Ask the Experts your brick wall questions
- Attend workshops such as Irish Genealogy, 1950 Census, DNA and more
- Receive individual assistance from a genealogy expert

For full details, including how to register, please go to www.ridgewoodlibrary.org/localhistory. Space is limited and the program will be held onsite. Any questions, contact Sarah Kiefer at 201-670-5600 x135 or skiefer@ridgewoodlibrary.org

Saturday October 1 at 2pm, A Window on American Stained Glass: Through a slide presentation, Donald Samick of J&R Lamb Studios will take a look at the development of stained glass windows from the late 1800's to today's modern designs and how the ever shifting national and global economy affected popularity. He will also examine how social and population movements bring about increased interest in religious and domestic stained glass, which affected changes in architectural styles. Will be held in the Library auditorium from 2-3pm

Registration required: http://engagedpatrons.org/EventsExtended.cfm?SiteID=5615&EventID=465600

This program is in relation to recent restoration to George O. Bonawit’s stained glass of Old King Cole Series. Bonawit was a Ridgewood resident, and stained glass artist. His stained glass will be on display in the auditorium during the program.

Funding has been made possible in part through grant funds administered by the Bergen County Division of Cultural and Historic Affairs, Department of Parks, and through a General Operating Support grant from the New Jersey Historical Commission, a division of the Department of State.
